

Kristy Napier
Office Assistant, TRIO Upward Bound

Kristy holds a 2-year Degree from Cuyahoga Community College and a Journalism degree from Kent State University. She's written for several publications including The Sun Press. In addition to being a journalist, Kristy has spent over 10 years teaching in the Cleveland Heights-University Heights schools as a substitute Teacher. From there, Kristy spent years working in business administration where she managed offices for some of Cleveland's top companies. Kristy enjoys traveling and watching action movies.

Speech Topic and Presentation Summary:

Current Events: It seems like ground-breaking and historic events are happening more frequently in society. This is being observed especially in this year's presidential election and in areas of crime and law enforcement. This presentation will take a close look at what factors are involved in driving the culture to extremes. Why are so many established societal norms being challenged so often?